

COVERT SURVEILLANCE SYSTEMS

Many problems in the workplace occur when there are no witnesses present. These include recurring thefts, equipment sabotage and substance abuse. We are equipped with the technology that enables us to utilize time-lapse video to permanently record these and other acts which threaten the corporate environment. Current equipment available on short-term notice includes: cameras disguised as radios; smoke detectors; motion detectors and sprinkler heads. Also available are pinhole lenses which can be easily concealed in ceilings, books and other items typically found in the office environment.

Video cameras can be programmed to run for up to 10 days at a time before requiring a new tape in the recording device. We are also familiar with all current regulations governing the use of these devices in the workplace and are prepared to offer sound, experienced advice on their proper and lawful use.
